Negro Robber Shot Here in Attempt to Escape Police

Elijah Turner, Ex-Convict, Caught in Cassidy Grocery Store

DENIES OTHER JOBS

Clemon Fulch, Another Negro, Slashed in Fight Sunday Night

Two negroes were in separate hospitals here Monday with serious wounds as the result of a week-end of violence in Hope.

Elijah Turner, 32, negro ex-convict, was suffering from two bullet wounds in the body at Josephine hospital. He was shot in an attempt to rob the U. S. Cassidy grocery and meat market on North Hazel street early Sunday morning.

Turner was caught red-handed in the Cassidy store about 2 a. m. Sunday by Policemen Hugh Bearden, F. B. Ward and John Turner. The negro offered no resistance until officers told him from the store to the police automobile.

Shot in Flight

There he wheeled and attempted to flee. Policeman John Turner fired twice and the negro fell with bullet wounds in the stomach and abdomen.

From a hospital bed Monday, the negro said he was released from the state prison farm last October 17 after serving two years for burglary from Ouachita county. He said he was convicted from stealing several suits of clothing from a Camden laundry.

The negro denied any knowledge of a series of robberies in Hope the past two weeks. He said the Cassidy robbery was the only "job" he had attempted since his release from the penitentiary.

Turner said he had been employed "on and off" by J. L. Williams & Sons Lumber company since he came to Hope last October. He gave McNeill as his home.

Officers Ward, Bearden and Turner said they were patrolling the north side of town early Sunday when they passed by the Cassidy store and saw the negro standing near the cash register.

Mr. Cassidy, who lives adjoining the store, was aroused from bed while two of the officers kept the negro "covered" by their pistols. Cassidy unlocked the front door as the negro was led to the police car he suddenly wheeled and attempted to escape. Police guns brought him down.

Set of Burglar Tools

Officers found a complete set of burglar tools used by the negro who entered the store through a front window. The negro wore a pair of black gloves to prevent finger-prints.

Clemon Fulch, 25, negro, was in Julia Chester hospital Monday with serious knife wounds about the head and shoulders as the result of a fight at the Low Drop Inn, negro establishment in the southern part of town, early Sunday morning.

Willie Davis, another negro, was arrested. He was released under $300 bond. No charges have been filed against Davis pending the outcome of Fulch's injuries.

- 1. Continuance of the Harvard practice of limiting the size of entering classes.
- 2. Greater attention and study of methods of selecting college and graduate school students.
- 3. More adequate scholarships for "promising young men" from the lower economic levels.

By FRANCES STANLEY, Assistant Editor, Extension Service

"Every acre of land in Arkansas can be used to advantage by an Arkansas farm family," declared Dan T. Gray, dean and director of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, in addressing the conference of southwest Arkansas county extension agents at its final session here Saturday.

"The people of Arkansas will not achieve a sound economic basis for their agriculture until they are using all of their land. The problem is to get enough land in each farm to support the family. Fertility of the soil is only one consideration. If the soil is poor, get more of it, farm or a more extensive basis, but don't call it sub-marginal. There is practically no land in this state that cannot be used for pasture, trees, or animals, and it is up to use to learn how it may best be used. We must think first of the land, and then of enterprises that should be undertaken on it to make a living for the family."

Proper use of land, 4-H club work, farm organization, and rural cultural development were listed by the dean as among the unfinished work of the Extension Service. "We have not finished our 4-H club work until we lead young men and women to a farm, bring together all the pieces of information they have learned as 4-H club members, and start them in the farming business."

Organization Needed
"For the sake of democracy, as well as for themselves, farm people must get together, think together, and act together. They are the safest and surest group of people in this country. A farmer is a laborer, he is a manager, and he is a capitalist. He can be trusted to handle the problems of the day in a democratic manner. They must be organized if their thinking is to be effective, and this is one of the biggest tasks we have, and one of our greatest opportunities for service."

"Farm people are ready for greater cultural development, and that is something which does not depend on economic prosperity. There must be an appreciation of art, literature, music, and language before rural life is truly satisfactory. We have made a start in that direction, but we must go further."

A broader live-at-home program and the development of home industries will be necessary to provide a living for farm youth, said D. H. O. E. Baker, senior agricultural economist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who delivered his final address at the conference this morning. "Farm youth will not be able to find work in the cities. They will have to stay on the land. With a declining population will come a decrease in the demand for farm products. Exports will decrease, for foreign countries are facing the same problem. I have no solution for our problems except those that are underlying here. Make your own home, cultivate your own land, and raise your own standards of living by the use of that land."

A discussion of outlook information, to be presented in all counties of the state as a series of community and county outlook meetings the second week in February, was led by J. B. Daniels, extension farm management specialist, L. C. Baber, district agent, Mrs. Ida A. Fenton, economist in home management, and Aubrey Gates, farm organization specialist.

Final Session
The Saturday afternoon session of the conference was devoted to discussion of the work of related agricultural agencies. E. B. Wadsworth, state director of vocational education, discussed the Smith-Hughes program. A. M. Rogers, state director, Farm Security Administration, asked the co-operation of the extension agents in selecting families to be included in the farm tenant security program. G. W. Ridell, of the Soil Conservation Service, reported that 34 petitions for the establishment of soil conservation districts had been received by the state committee.

National and state goals of the Farm Bureau Federation were listed by Wally Frazier, state executive secretary. A co-ordination of federal and state activities affecting farmers, improved educational opportunities for rural boys and girls, continuation of efforts to develop rural electrification, adequate farm to market roads, and continued support of educational institutions affecting farmers and of the farm forestry program were given as the main objectives of the state federation. Efforts of the national federation will be continued to obtain for the farmer a parity income, which is essential to raising standards of living in farm homes, Mr. Frazier said.

The conference adjourned following a short talk by C. C. Randall, assistant extension director, on the responsibilities of extension agents during 1938.

County Liquor Vote Case Ordered Retried

Disputed Evidence Ordered Admitted by Supreme Court

But Election Contest Must Cover All Boxes, High Court Holds

BALLOTS MISSING

Must Retry Hempstead Case—Brockelhurst Loses Last Appeal

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court held Monday that secondary evidence was admissible to support charges of fraud under the 1935 "pure election" law in instances where duplicate ballots had disappeared.

The ruling was given in an opinion reversing and remanding for new trial the Hempstead case involving a contest of the county's February 18, 1936, local option liquor election.

In that election 896 votes were certified favoring liquor sales and 887 votes recorded against liquor sales.

The Hempstead county court upheld a contest of the election filed by "dry" leaders. The Hempstead circuit court, on appeal, ruled in favor of the "wets," refusing to consider fraud allegations in six precincts where duplicate ballots had disappeared.

"Drys" File Contest

N. P. O'Neal and others, who filed the original contest, charged illegal votes were cast and certain judges at the polling places interested themselves in the "wet" cause. The "drys" cited 127 allegedly illegal votes, and later, in an amended complaint, charged 45 additional votes.

Just Williams and others appealed to the circuit court for the county clerk's ruling.

Commenting on the circuit court's action in the case, the supreme court said:

"We hold that secondary evidence is admissible in view of the allegation of the complaint that charges of fraud perpetrated by officers of the election were sufficiently alleged to require hearing, irrespective of the existence of ballot boxes from the precinct in question; that on remand the hearing should not be confined to the vote cast in the precincts as to which charges of fraud and irregularity have been alleged in the original complaint, amended complaint or answer; and that there be a full and complete determination of all issues presented by the pleadings."

Brockelhurst Plea Denied
The supreme court Monday denied Lester W. Brockelhurst the right to seek a writ of error coram nobis in Leake circuit court, ending a former Galesburg (Ill.) Sunday school teacher's fight in the state courts against the death sentence given him for the slaying of Victor A. Gates.

State gasoline taxes in 1937 yielded the Texas public school fund $19,296,463, the highway construction and maintenance fund $20,582,927 and the county and road district indebtedness fund $10,963,463.

Business Security Demanded by C. C.

Lack of Confidence in Government Cited as Cause of Recession

WASHINGTON—(AP)—George H. Davis, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, called Sunday for "assurance" that no additional laws regulating business would be passed at this session of congress.

In a statement sent to the senate unemployment committee, he said: "The real cause of the present recession is due to lack of confidence in the future, caused accumulatively by the passage of laws culminating in the undistributed profits tax and the threat of the wages-and-hour bill."

There is no question in the minds of business men, he said, that the following steps would restore confidence:

- 1. Repeal of the undistributed profits tax.
- 2. A sharp modification in the amount of capital gains tax.
- 3. Liberalization of the security exchange and commodity exchange rules "to provide more liquid markets."
- 4. "Assurance that at this session at least, there will be no additional laws passed further regulating business, such as the wages-and-hour bill."

"It also has been said that I would be active in R. A. (Bob) Cook's campaign for governor of Arkansas. I am inactive now, and will continue to be inactive throughout Cook's campaign."

Richest Girl in the World

CONSTANCE CORRY—heroine
BRET CORRY—her brother
HONEY BRANDON—Connie's
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double"

Yesterday Bret and Constance Corry are another girl now that she has become her old self again. They quarrel and Connie wins but something tells her she will not always win.

CHAPTER XVII

CONNIE was to win out once more in her plan for a second honeymoon, if not a trip around the world, at least part way.

"Please, darling," she coaxed Bret. "Think what fun, just the two of us visiting every odd corner on the globe, seeing things through both our eyes, enjoying them together. When we come back we can settle down to the serious business of living. You can decide what you want to do; where we want to live. But first let's have a real honeymoon, please, darling!"

It was difficult to refuse her when it seemed to mean so much to her, when he loved her so much. After all, a honeymoon was one thing that did not happen every day! He had promised not to let her money come between them. So finally Bret allowed himself to be persuaded.

They booked passage for the luxurious Prince of Wales suite. Connie's private pullman, a gift from her grandfather on her birthday, took them to New York. At the docks there was such a throng of reporters and photographers, such a huge crowd of curious spectators eager for a glimpse of the young couple, or possibly an autograph, that it was necessary to have police escort.

This was Bret's first experience as the husband of the richest girl in the world. He was not at all sure that he liked it. He said he felt as though he were some sort of freak on exhibition. He felt like a fool.

"Oh, you'll get used to it," Connie assured him. "Anyway it seems there is nothing one can do about it. I suppose people do think we are freaks of some sort. Just because of so much money. As for the newspapers, I used to get angry with them, too, but they are just doing their jobs, you know. We are 'news,' and so they have to tell the world about us."

BRET said he supposed she was right. Nevertheless he did not think he would ever get used to being public property. He was certain he never would enjoy it. He was glad now that they were going away; they would not be "news" in other countries.

However he was to find that they still were, to the other passengers on shipboard. People stopped talking whenever the newlyweds, whose romance was so strange and thrilling, approached on their daily promenade around the deck; they stared as they made their way across the big dining room to the captain's table. When Bret and Connie played games, or swam in the big pool, or danced, there were whispered, though often audible comments, and always a group gathered as an audience. Once Bret opened the stateroom door suddenly to discover a man eavesdropping outside.

"I almost pitched him overboard," he told Connie violently. "Why on earth should people spy on us and whisper behind our backs and rubberneck? I think, honey, if you don't mind, we'll stay close to our rooms during the remainder of the voyage."

Connie said she did not mind. Poor Bret, he was getting a taste of the gilded cage in which she always had lived. She did not mind the way people behaved as much as usual; not only because she was used to it, but because it was impossible for her to mind anything as long as she had Bret. They were very happy during this second honeymoon. Perhaps they would never be quite so happy again. It may be that each realized this, in their hearts, and so made every moment a perfect, shining one.

It was fun, as Connie had predicted, seeing and enjoying everything together. In London they played at sightseeing, and the night spots. In Paris they were very gay, doing the rounds of night clubs and the Bohemian quarters; and Connie, to Bret's amazement, purchased trunksloads of gorgeous clothes of which he thought she had more than enough already. In India they obtained an audience with Gandhi, the richest girl in the world sitting at the feet of the poorest man! They ordered an exact replica, in miniature size, of the famous Taj Mahal. They stayed a month at Connie's villa on the Riviera, where the white sands were surfered by the blue Mediterranean. In Bangkok and Delhi they browsed in the street markets and bought everything from fruits to ancient hand-woven rugs. In Egypt they gazed upon the carved wonder of the Sphinx.

WHEN they came back, after four months into which so much had been crowded that it might have been several years, they brought more than 50 trunks and boxes and barrels filled with imperial tapestries and brocades, jades and ivories, gowns and jewels and furs, strange, brightly-colored birds in enough cages to house the feathered inhabitants of Manhattan—and even a 10-foot alligator from Hongkong!

"What we'll do with it all is beyond my powers of imagination," said Bret.

"But, darling, we had such fun—and we had to have a souvenir of every single place and moment," Connie claimed. "Oh, Bret, I'm sorry it's ended, our lovely honeymoon. Will we always be as happy as we have been?" She clung to him, her blue eyes pleading, her sweet lips curved in a wistful smile. Almost she was afraid of such happiness as theirs; it was so complete, so perfect. Could it last forever, remain impregnable?

"We'll do our best, sweetheart," Bret promised, his dark eyes grave. "It has indeed been wonderful. I'm glad we'll have such memories to treasure and share. But happiness is something, as I've told you, that money can not buy, that is not even a gift from the gods. It is something one must strive for, work to obtain; something that lies within one's self."

"Then we'll work at it together," Connie vowed. "As hard as we have played and lived and loved. We will really be starting our new life together now."

How could she ever have been afraid when she had Bret? He was so strong and fine and clean. So unutterably dear.

It would be good to be back home again. To make that "home" together.

Two Coaches Get Grid Contracts

Mohre Signs With Ole Miss—Nelson to Mississippi State

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—(AP)—Harry Mohre, head coach and athletic director at the University of Georgia for 10 years, was named to that position at the University of Mississippi over the week-end.

Prof. T. A. Bickerstaff, chairman of the Athletic Committee at Ole Miss, said that Mohre had been given a three-year contract which becomes effective February 1.

The Athletic Committee chairman said Mohre was hired by unanimous vote. Terms were not revealed but persons close to the athletic administration believe that Mohre's salary will be somewhat higher than the $5,100 received by Ed Walker, his predecessor.

Mohre is a Notre Dame star of the 20's who was at Georgia as line coach and head coach for 14 years. He will have sound material to work with next season as last year's freshman squad was called one of the best ever assembled at the university.

Walker, coach here since 1930, said he had no immediate plans. Ole Miss football teams have won 46 games, lost 39 and tied 10 during his regime.

Nelson Signs Contract
STATE COLLEGE, Miss.—(AP)—Emerson (Spike) Nelson, line coach at Louisiana State University for six years, was named head football coach at Mississippi State College over the week-end.

C. R. (Dudley) Noble, veteran member of the coaching staff here, was appointed athletic director. President G. D. Humphrey of Mississippi State said that appointments would be effective February 1.

Nelson, a former University of Iowa tackle, succeeds Col. Ralph Sasse as head football coach. Colonel Sasse resigned because the close of the 1937 season and his assistants took over direction of the team.

Noble's appointment as athletic director followed by one day the announcement that Col. Paul Parker had been relieved of his duties January 14.

By the Associated Press
In first place in the Southwest Conference standings after four straight wins, the University of Arkansas can't tarry for a breathing spell.

Also undefeated, although having played only two games, was a stout Baylor crew. And right behind it, gaining more steam each time out, was the defending champion, Southern Methodist.

Last week Arkansas bettered its chances for the flag by shellacking Rice Institute in a pair of games on the Fayetteville court, 38 to 31 and 59 to 37. Baylor punched Texas for a 51 to 45 victory, largely due to efforts of Clarence (Bubba) Gernand, guard.

The Bruins can pull up in their scrap with an erratic Texas Aggie team in the league's only game of the week Thursday night at Waco.

The Aggies, after dropping Texas Christian, 38 to 30, in their first game on a North Texas trip, stumbled against the Southern Methodists at Dallas and were easy victims, 41 to 20.

New Protamine Zinc Insulin Offers Greater Satisfaction to Diabetics

(No. 431)
One of the great discoveries of the past few years has been an improvement in the insulin used in the treatment of diabetes. Insulin itself was such an important discovery that the investigators received the Nobel prize for their work.

Medicine, however, does not stop with a discovery of this character, but proceeds at once to improvements and advances which enhance its usefulness.

The great discovery which still remains to be made in this field is development of a preparation which can be taken by mouth and which will act as a substitute for the secretion of the pancreas, known as insulin, which is lacking in those who have diabetes.

With the old insulin, frequently as many as four injections per day might be required and all meals had to be taken in proper relation to the injection. People with diabetes had to live on an exceedingly regular schedule.

The development of the new protamine zinc insulin makes it possible in many cases to abolish these restrictions. Often it is possible for the patient to take one dose before breakfast and then to take his meals at optional hours during the day.

Of course every patient with diabetes differs from every other patient and it is not possible to make any definite rule for all of them. After suitable study, however, many patients are going to be able to use the new preparation to great advantage.

It must be remembered that the patient with diabetes must not only take his preparation of insulin to substitute for the secretion that he lacks, but he must also choose his food both as to quantity and quality in relationship to the amount of insulin that he takes and the needs of his body for energy and for growth.

Once a diabetic person becomes experienced in the uses of either the old or new insulin, he can, with intelligence, regulate his routine so as to live nearly a normal existence. If a person with diabetes develops an intercurrent infection, or if he is suddenly called upon for an excess output of energy, that may modify greatly the amount of food that he is to take and with it the amount of insulin. Altogether, however, the new protamine zinc insulin has greatly modified the control of diabetes.

Just as soon as people with diabetes learn the advantage of the new preparation, they are often eager to abandon whatever they were doing in the past and to begin at once with the same careful study and control that preceded the first taking of insulin and the long experience that they have had with the old product.

There are many cases in which the transfer from the old to the new product may involve an interval in which the patient both. In some instances it may require residence in a hospital to determine response and to train patients in the use of the new substance.

Folks need a lot of loving in the morning; The day is all before, with cares beset— The cares we know, and they that give no warning; For Love is God's own milidote for fret. Folks hunger so for loving at the night time, When wearily they take them home to rest— At slumber song and turning-out-the-light time, Of all the time for loving that's the best. Folks want a lot of loving every minute— The sympathy of others and their smile! 'Till life's end, from the moment they begin it, Folks need a lot of loving all the while.—Selected.

Don't omit explanation when such information is essential to an intelligent audit. Attach memoranda to your return.

No. 6

Normal Tax and Surtax Rates

The Revenue Act of 1936 provides for only one normal tax rate, that is, 4 per cent on the amount of the net income in excess of the allowable credits such as the personal exemption, credit for dependents, etc. The act provides for an additional credit for the purpose of the normal tax of an earned income credit, that is, 10 per cent of the amount of the earned net income but not in excess of 10 per cent of the amount of the net income. The personal exemption and credit for dependents are also allowable as credits against the net income for the purpose of the surtax, the resulting net income being designated "surtax net income."

The surtax is imposed on surtax net incomes in excess of $4,000. The rates increase in accordance with the amount of surtax net income included in varying so-called surtax brackets. On a surtax net income of $4,000 or less there is no surtax. On a surtax net income in excess of $4,000 and not in excess of $6,000, the rate is 4 per cent of such excess. The surtax upon a surtax net income of $6,000 is $40 and upon a surtax net income in excess of $6,000 and not in excess of $8,000 the rate is 5 per cent of such excess in addition to the $40, or a surtax of $180 upon a surtax net income of $8,000. The surtax on a surtax net income of $8,000 is $232.00, and upon a surtax net income in excess of $8,000, 75 per cent, the maximum rate, is applicable to such excess, in addition to the $2,591.00. Many taxpayers make the error of applying the maximum rate instead of the rate provided for in the bracket in which their surtax net income is included.

Following is an example of how to compute the tax on a net income of $8,500, all of which represents earned net income, the taxpayer being single and without dependents:

Net income	$8,500
Less personal exemption	1,000

Trade Treaty for U. S. With Canada

Another Trade Pact Will Follow Between U. S. and Great Britain

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The State Department is preparing an announcement of intention to negotiate a new trade agreement with Canada.

The announcement and a long list of products in which tariff reductions are under consideration probably will be published next week.

In 1936 United States exports to Canada were $384,151,000, which was an increase of $69,937,000 over 1935.

Imports rose appreciably, too. In 1936, they were $375,832,000, compared to $286,440,000 in 1935.

Canada buys nearly three-fifths of her foreign purchases from the United States. This country is Canada's second-best customer, the United Kingdom being its best.

Negotiations with Canada will be conducted separately from those soon to begin with the United Kingdom.

British Curtsy List Is Closed for Season

LONDON—(AP)—The list for society queens who will curtsy before King George and Queen Elizabeth four or five months from now is already under consideration.

New Year's day was the day for sponsors' applications to the Earl of Cromer, lord chamberlain who has charge. Applications received later don't count, and it's hard form to get them in ahead of time.

Those who don't get presented at first request just have to keep on asking—for no waiting list is kept. A woman who wishes to apply for permission to make presentations must herself have been presented and must be married.

Maximum benefit payable under the ex-cess unemployment compensation act is $15 a week for 16 weeks in one year.

Income	7.50
Earned income credit	850
Net income subject to normal tax	6,650

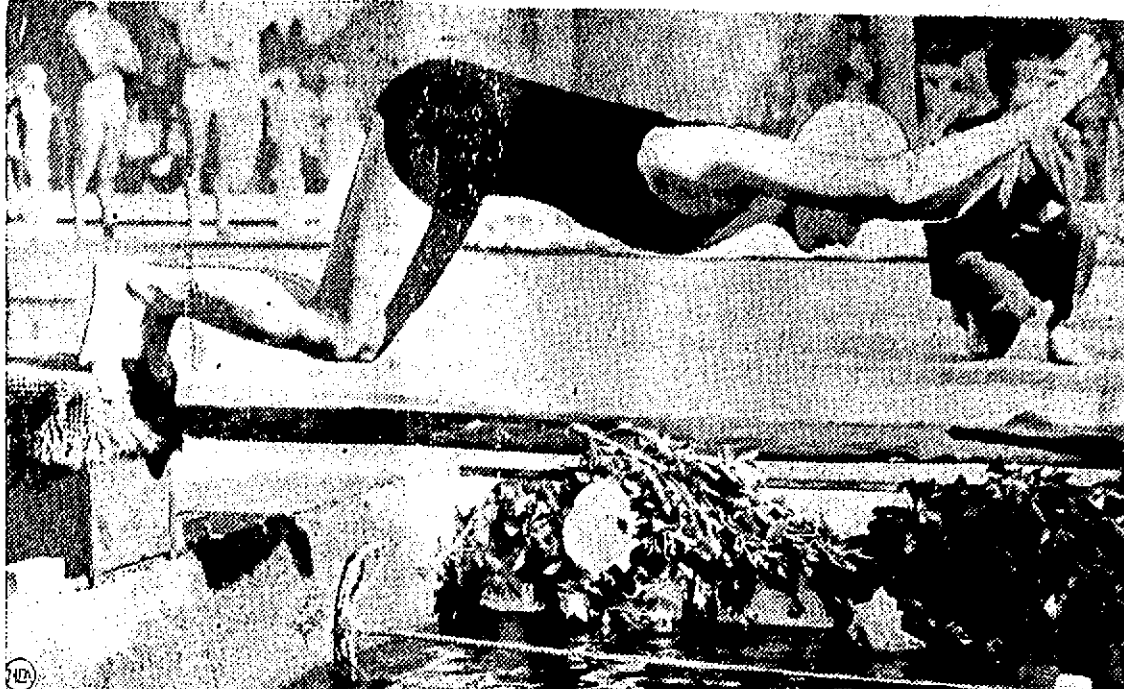

Surtax at 4 per cent on amount of surtax net income in excess of $4,000 but not over $6,000, 4 per cent on $2,000

Surtax at 5 per cent on amount of surtax net income in excess of $6,000 but not over $8,000, 5 per cent on $1,500

Total surtax	155
Normal tax, 4 per cent on $6,650	266
Total normal tax and surtax	421

Taxpayers are advised to read carefully the instructions accompanying Form 1040 relating to the earned income credit and surtax, as well as all other instructions thereon, before preparing their returns.

Dean Noe Is Taken to Hospital Dying

"Vagaries" Such as His Fast Are Denounced by Other Churchmen

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Israel Harding Noe, his fast to maintain immortality ended, against his will, was said by his physician Monday to have a "chance" for life. "No material change in his condition since Sunday night," said a bulletin read at the hospital where Noe was taken at the end of 22 days of absolute fast. "The dean has a chance."

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—The Rev. Israel Harding Noe, 47, ousted dean of St. Mary's Episcopal church, was taken to a hospital Sunday night at the end of his 22nd consecutive day of fasting in an effort to furnish "living proof of man's immortality."

The fasting clergyman was in a deep sleep when he entered the hospital. His condition was desperate, as it had been for several days.

Without food or water since January 2, the former dean's organic functioning had partly ceased. Forced feeding was started immediately in an effort to save his life.

Until the former dean lost control of his faculties nothing could be done to prevent his continuing his quest for "absolute idealism" and the "attainment of immortality on earth."

He sat in a third row pew at the cathedral today and listened to a pulpit attack on "vagrancies" such as his search for immortality through abstinence and prayer.

Parental Co-operation Eases Strain Imposed on Children by Exams

It's just about time for mid-years. Ahead the Alps of final examinations that will decide whether or no Jim and Anne are to be promoted. The thoughtful parent won't wait until the week before test time to help along with study. Children and young people are habitual postponers, and they never worry until a day or two beforehand. Then come the fatal days of "boning," or cramming on reviews. It isn't so good.

Of all times in the year, this is the greatest chance for parents to be of assistance. Fifteen minutes spent on review, after regular home work is finished, will work miracles. Perhaps Anne was out with gripe two weeks in November, or Jim never could get book discount. Now is the accepted time to come to the aid of the party in trouble.

Elders' Interest is Spur

It would be so kind to postpone the bridge game, and go over the lost or troublesome lessons with the children.

ARE YOU Weak, Pale?

Houston, Texas—Mrs. Emily Schuler St., 5106 Schuler St., says: "A relative was so weak and nervous she could hardly get around. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthened her so well. Not long after using it she was as well as ever." Buy it in liquid or tablet at your drug store today. See how much calmer and stronger you feel after using this tonic.

Or even though no hitches have broken the smooth thread of progress, it will be of enormous help to the student if someone asks him questions on completed work (look at chapter ends), or make sure that clauses and phrases were fixed.

The very fact that mother or dad are interested enough to stop and give a hand, is a boost to lagging interest and energy. And here lies another suggestion, that children won't think too unkindly of parents who insist on concentration before examinations, instead of permitting too many outside diversions.

Things worth having are worth working for. An invaluable precept for the young to remember. All through life there will be need for will power and self suppression, when there is a job to be done. Explain that things even up pretty well, and that every vacation removes the burden completely while examinations take an extra toll of sacrifice.

"Repair" Weak Spots

While final counts, and we want the children to pass creditably, as much too best their pride as to unbar the way head, there is much to be gained by "stock-taking" knowledge at this time.

There are bound to be weak spots in the year's grades, things that Jim has never quite gotten through his head, facts that Anne's poor memory has cast like an old shoe. And as the course ahead depends on thoroughly digested current knowledge, these foundations should be repaired. A clear, quiet place to study, and time to do it. Interest and as much assistance as possible. This is the recipe. Best to put over-excitement out of the way. The frame of mind counts. There will be time enough ahead for extras. There is a goal to be won, and training is half the battle.

"I AM ONE OF THE MILLIONS WHO PREFER CAMELS" SAYS RALPH GREENLEAF

WORLD'S CHAMPION IN POCKET BILLIARDS

"HEALTHY NERVES ARE A MUST WITH ME!"

FOURTEEN different times the news headlines have flashed: RALPH GREENLEAF WINS WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

In a special interview during his recent championship play in Philadelphia, Ralph said: "I'd say the most important rule in this game is to have healthy nerves. And on that score, I think, Camels have a lot extra to offer. One of the main reasons why I've stuck to Camel cigarettes for twenty years is—they don't ruffle my nerves."

And America as a nation shows the same preference for finer tobaccos that Ralph Greenleaf does! Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in America

Fencing experts, too, appreciate Camel's finer tobaccos. As BELA DE TUSCAN, the famous instructor, says: "Fencing is very tiring, and I welcome the quick 'lift' I get with a Camel."

"The way these light boats bounce around knocks the daylight out of my digestion! Camels help my digestion to keep on an even keel," says MULFORD SCULL, outboard motorboat racer.

JAMES L. CLARK, famous scientist and explorer, says: "I always carry plenty of Camels with me into the wilderness. 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!' Many's the time I've done it."

HELEN HOWARD, top-flight spring-board diver, of Miami, Florida, says: "Camels don't irritate my throat—not even when I'm sitting around in a wet suit, a target for irritation."

HE IS COUNTED THE GREATEST POCKET-BILLIARD PLAYER OF ALL TIME. Here Greenleaf executes a difficult massé shot, requiring split-hair accuracy, faultless stroking, and healthy nerves. And the world's two famous masters of the cue—champion Ralph Greenleaf and the 18.1 ballline billiard champion, Willie Hoppe—are both Camel smokers.

Dissatisfied With Your Looks? Very Likely Coiffure's Wrong

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer
Smart hairdressers can accomplish nothing short of miracles. Not only do they arrange hair in such a way as to make the hair itself appear lovelier, but they can, and do, fix it to emphasize good features and make bad ones quite inconspicuous.

If you have a long face and rather heavy jaw (the great percentage of American women come in this category), a nose which seems much, much too long for you, a turned-up nose that is annoying instead of cute once you are past twenty-five, or a generous supply of mature lines around eyes and between your nose and corners of the mouth, a new coiffure is the answer. If you are open-minded enough to realize your defects, and to be perfectly willing to try a new hair-do, then find a coiffure expert who will try this and that until he hits on something truly becoming.

Before and After Studies
Regardless of what you have been told or think about the matter, the fact remains that soft curls and fluffiness about the face only serve to emphasize the sometimes rather hard lines of maturity. To prove this, Don Ross (Mr. Ross is a designer and illustrator of coiffures—not a hairdresser) sketches, from a photograph, the head of a middle-aged woman, compares it with the coiffure designed to flatter her.

With hair cut quite short, so that the thickness of her neck designed especially to suit their figures, but almost everyone can afford at least one trip to a hairdresser. And it's money well spent. The way you wear your hair more often than not means the difference between beauty and a merely so-so appearance.

The grayed woman, left, looks frizzy mainly because her face is surrounded by fluffiness. Horizontal waves make her head seem broad and the short bob emphasizes the thickness of her neck. Don Ross, coiffure illustrator, suggests the coiffure at right—hair low on the neck, with definite lines to contrast with the lines of the face, thereby softening them. Vertical waves appear to lengthen the head.

If she wears her hair off her forehead, as shown above, piled high on top of her head, cut short at back and sides with fuzzy curls and swirls, the long-faced girl, a prevalent American type, only emphasizes the length of her face and breadth of her jaw. But the right hair-do, sketched at upper right, brings out her loveliness. With a

Prescott Awarded District Tourney

Bobcats Are Defeated by Curly Wolves, Score Is 39 to 38

CAMDEN—F. W. Whiteside of Camden was re-elected president of the District 9 Athletic Association at its annual meeting here. Other officers are Imon Bruce, Fordyce, vice president, and V. W. Huddleston, Arkadelphia, secretary-treasurer.

Prescott got the senior basketball tournament set for March 3, 4, and 5, while Smackover got the junior tourney February 26. Officials for the senior tourney will be Peter Creed, Camden, and Jack Clemens, Standard-Union. Junior tourney officials will be Jack Clemens and Herbert Garrett. The senior events will start Thursday night, March 3, with four games booked.

Only four teams will be entered from each of the six counties, limiting the field to 24 teams. The four teams will be selected by the county athletic associations, presumably in tourneys. Double elimination will be used. Counties are Union, Dallas, Ouachita, Calhoun, Nevada and Clark.

The annual literary and track meet will be held at Camden Friday, April 29.

Bobcats are Beaten
PRESCOTT, Ark.—Prescott High School Curly Wolves defeated the Hope Bobcats, 39 to 38, here Saturday night in a hard fought game.

Prescott gained an early lead that Hope was unable to overcome. Reese and Ramsey played their last game for the Bobcats.

The Hope juniors swamped the Prescott juniors 54 to 14.

Dixie Howell Seeks Grid Coaching Job

TEMPE, Ari.—(AP)—Dixie Howell former Alabama football star, conferred over the week-end with President Grady Gammage and athletic officials of Arizona State Teachers College regarding his possible selection as grid-iron coach.

Howell, a member of the Washington Redskins professional team last season said he "would like to take a crack" at the Tempe post.

Dr. Gammage said, "nothing definite" had been offered Howell and that a decision would not be announced "for a few days and possibly a few weeks."

During the last season Tempe lost eight games and played one tie.

Emmet Teams Win Four Cage Battles

Bodcaw Badgers Defeated by Central High School Team

EMMET, Ark.—Emmet teams won four games this week-end.

The Emmet senior boys team defeated the Gurdon senior boys by a score of 24 to 21. The Emmet team led all the way, but with the installation of Emmet's second five in the second half, the Gurdon boys slowly pulled up closer and closer.

Wise led the Emmet scoring by making 9 points.

The Emmet junior boys defeated the Gurdon junior boys by a score of 17 to 5. Ward and Malone played best for Emmet.

night making 12 of Spring Hill's 16 points.

Central High Wins

BODCAW, Ark.—The Central Wildcats defeated the Bodcaw Badgers here Friday night to Pine up three victories for the Central teams in a triple header battle. This is the sixth time that the Badgers and Wildcats have met this season and the second time that the Wildcats have been the victors.

Greene, of the Wildcats, started the scoring with a free shot, and Cameron of the Badgers quickly followed with a field goal. The Wildcats scored 6 points in the first quarter, making the score 6-2. In this period of play the Wildcats definitely outplayed the Badgers.

In the second quarter J. Butler of the home team slipped in 6 points in swift succession to tie and untie the score and put the Badgers in the lead 10-12 at the half. The second period belonged to the Badgers.

Then in the third quarter it was Greene's time to loop the tying and untieing shots, as Butler had in the second, placing the Wildcats ahead 17-20 at the end of the third quarter.

The last quarter of the battle was faster than ever. The Wildcats holding the big end of the score by the most supreme effort. The last minute and half of play was the most desperate

Southern League Headed by Scott

Atlanta Sportsman Replaces Judge Martin as President of League

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Maj. Trammell Scott of Atlanta, Ga., was elected president of the Southern Association over the week-end with power to direct its operations throughout the next season.

"I am happy to broaden my field of activity in baseball, particularly in the Southern Association, in which I grew up," Major Scott said. "I saw my first Southern League game from a tree. I had my initials carved in my special seat."

First to congratulate the new president was Judge John D. Martin, who retired to the chairmanship of the board after 18 years as president. Martin steered Major Scott, whom he endorsed last week, to victory over Hank Hill, president of the Piedmont League. The two were deadlocked, with Nashville, Memphis, Birmingham and Chattanooga supporting Hill, and Little Rock, Atlanta, Knoxville and New Orleans favoring Scott.

Ban on Ouachita College Is Lifted

To Resume Athletic Relations With Other Arkansas Colleges

CHICAGO—(AP)—A petition by Arkansas members of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for permission to resume athletic relations with Ouachita College, Arkadelphia, Ark., was granted by the association over the week-end.

The North Central Association, however, did not return Ouachita College to membership. The college was dropped in 1932. Two years ago the association prohibited other Arkansas members from playing Ouachita teams. North Central officials said the decision was to leave the matter of relations with Ouachita up to the Arkansas conference members themselves but to lift the prohibition.

The petition was presented by President J. H. Reynolds of Hendrix College, Conway, Ark. Reynolds checked out of his hotel and was apparently en route to Conway before the decision was announced.

Hearn of Chapel Hill, N. C.; a daughter, Miss Bettie Hearn of Chapel Hill; a brother, Dr. A. G. Hearn of Johnson City, Tenn., and a sister, Miss Betty Hearn of Jackson, Tenn.

Mussolini Great Bluffer, Says Briton

But Real Wealth and Power Lies in Democracies—Lloyd George

Cannes, France—(AP)—David Lloyd George reviewed the past 50 years in an interview Sunday and said that Great Britain was not "afraid" of the future. The World war prime minister of Britain observes his golden wedding anniversary this Monday.

He described Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy as "perhaps the most skillful bluffer in Europe today," adding that he had bluffed "with very poor cards."

"The real cards, however, are in the hands of the truly democratic powers," he said. "When the time comes they will make a clean sweep of the table." Lloyd George said "the future of human liberty for very many generations to come" depended on France, the United States and Great Britain "and what they do together, working on parallel lines."

"The parrot cry about saving the world from Communism by Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini leaves me cold. Fascism as exalted by Mussolini, Nazism as practiced by Hitler and Bolshevism as exploited by Stalin reveal to me no fundamental differences.

"Liberty is just as remote in Germany and Italy as it is in Russia."

Between 1906 and 1912 the United States government helped 13,000 laborers to emigrate from Spain, Portugal and Russia to Hawaii because of a labor shortage there.

With morning came the repair crews

A winter rain, falling slowly from leaden December skies, froze to telephone poles and lines. Hard on its heels came the wind. Ice-laden wires snapped and poles splintered before the blast.

Night found scores of towns throughout the storm region handicapped by crippled telephone service.

But...with the morning came the repair crews. Hastily gathered from regions untouched by storm, by a management long familiar with such emergencies, they poured into the stricken area with trucks, tools and materials. Day and night they rushed the work of reconstruction.

One advantage to you of the Bell System's far-flung organization is this: When disaster flattens the telephone system that serves you, men and money and materials are instantly available for the prompt repair of the damage.
